

Brown Bag: The Secret Life of Groups

Have you ever worked on a good team that you knew had the potential to be a great team, but somehow just didn't happen? Are you curious about why groups – be they a family, a leadership team, or a project team – sometimes get stuck? Do you ever wonder how to un-stick them? If so, come to this Thursday's brown bag lunch, where I will be sharing a framework that makes visible the invisible dynamics of groups, based on the work of family systems theorist David Kantor.

If you want to join the conversation, please RSVP in the comments below. Thanks!